

The narrow strip between the 2 fences has become a de facto enclosure. The wooden fence stretches for miles through similarly degraded terrain. The cattle are clustered around blocks of salt, an essential mineral.